

Read an explicitly feminist zine:

graphic novel:

later became a book or

Read a zine or minicomic that

Read a minicomic:

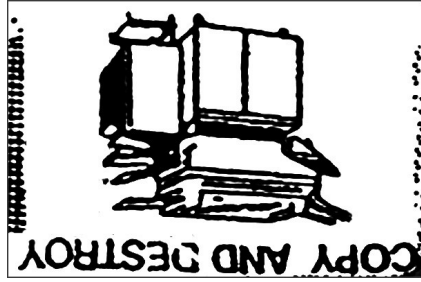

Read a zine by someone who practices a religion:

Read a zine about political activism:

Read a history zine or read about zine history:

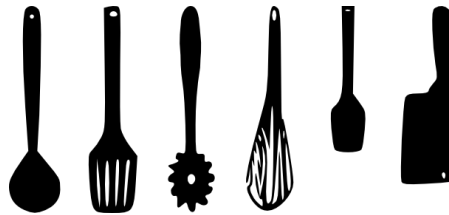

Read a zine by someone of Southeast Asian descent:

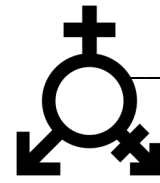

Read a zine by someone of Middle Eastern descent:

Read a zine by someone of Middle Eastern descent:

Read the first zine in a series by a person of color:

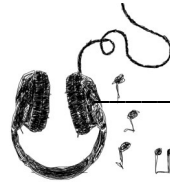

Read a cookzine and make one of the recipes:

Read a trans zine:

Read a one-page folded zine, then make your own:

Read a zine anthology or collection in book form:

Read a zine with music reviews mixed based on it:

Read a zine with music reviews and make a play list or

Read a zine that includes an ICQ, email, or chat transcript:

Read a self-care zine:

Read a fanzine from the 1980s or earlier:

Read a DIY zine and practice a skill you learn:

Read a fanzine about a person:

Zine HARDER!

want to amp up your zine reading in 2016?

Keep this handy checklist in your pocket and get ready to zine as hard as you can!

Inspired by Book Riot's Read Harder Challenge:

<http://bookriot.com/2015/12/15/2016-book-riot-read-harder-challenge/>

More Zine Harder Info:

zinelibraries.info/zine-harder