It simply means picking something up and taking it honestly and complaining or they picture nothing or something angry or disgusting or something about them because they think it means something else. So many girls out there say, ‘I’m not a feminist’.

“Other women who are killing it should motivate you, thrill you, challenge you and inspire you rather than threaten you and make you feel like you’re immediately being compared to them.”

Girls Rock NC mini-zine